

This pull out section of the RDSPA 2010 Spring Gala and Auction lists all the rockin' wines available for bidding at the auction. Pour yourself a glass of your favorite vintage, put your feet up, and enjoy perusing this listing of spectacular wines from private collections, favorite wineries, and many individual donors known for their intriguing selections. Be sure to check out the winery tours on the last page.

Live Auction: Instant Wine Cellar

This is a record breaking Instant Wine Cellar for the RDS community-81 bottles!!! However, the most impressive aspect of this Instant Wine Cellar, is that it is community based, which means that over 60 Redwood Day School families have made 81 thoughtful choices about wines that YOU will want to drink! Now with all these decisions made for you, all you have to do is sit back, relax, and choose a lovely wine to share- ENJOY!

Silent Auction: Incredible Variety

Such care and thought went in to the wines that people selected. You will find singles, duos, trios, a trio of trios, quads and even a case. Drinkable wines from the 1960s through recent vintages...from Bordeaux to Oakland! Once you see all we have on offer, you might even be tempted to bring along some friends who love wine to the auction. There is still time to get them in on these great wines! The can sign up at <http://rdspagala.com> (no www.) up until March 3rd.

Live Auction Item 101: Instant Wine Cellar

Instant Wine Cellar Highlights

A cult Syrah

2007 Copain Baker Ranch Syrah, Anderson Valley

Cult California Syrah specialist Wells Guthrie focuses on single vineyard wines of unique character and taste. This Syrah reminds one of the better bottlings from Montsant, Priorat and the Roussillon. Very cool stuff from just north of Napa.

Donated by Dagmar and Gil Serota

A knockout Cava, cool pink too...

2007 Raventos i Blanc di Nit, Penedes, Spain

A new wine to this country, a pink version of the Raventos stellar white organic sparkler. A dash of the red grape Monastrell gives traditional Cava a red fruit twist. Rich and creamy and ready for grilled chorizo with clams.

Donated by Dawn and Jay Pieper

A clever Zin

2002 Miner Family Vineyards, Zinfandel, Oakville, CA

What a Zin! It is so balanced you might not notice the hefty weight or the serious spice on that long kick of a finish. Made by a small production Oakville winery run by solar power.

Donated by Annie and Mark Goldsmith

A boutique winery Entrada

2007 Vincent Arroyo Winery, Entrada, Calistoga, CA

A favorite small winery in Calistoga. The Entrada is their pride and joy and every year sells flat out. This is a beautiful Syrah blend, delicious now and even better later. Recommended cellaring: 3+ years.

Donated by Stuart and Laurel Davis

An old school surfer's Chardonnay

2006 Mount Eden Estate Chardonnay, Santa Cruz Mountains, CA

Old vine plantings link up with old-school Cali winemaking in this distinctive Chardonnay. Lots of baked apple here, and a flinty crack of smoke. Serious stuff. Crabs are about to face the music.

Donated by Stacy and Mark Ward

An organic Black Pearl

2004 Clos Saron Black Pearl, Sierra Foothills

Neither for the faint of heart nor those impure of soul, Gideon Beinstock's organic, unsulfured wines are bold, flavorful and unlike any others. A heady combination of thick blueberry preserves and hints of eucalyptus, flint smoke and black pepper, this wine screams "I am natural!" Cellar this up to 15 years and all that was obscured shall be revealed.

Donated by Maria and Charlie Cypher

A classic Napa Cab

2003 Honig Winery, Cabernet Sauvignon, Napa Valley, CA

Rich, ripe and gorgeously textured, this Cabernet has everything -- sweet, juicy black cherry and plum fruit, dark chocolate and roasted coffee notes, and subtle hints of smoked meat, oak and vanilla. It's a delicious drink.

Donated by Patrick McDonnell and Lorelle Carley

A crisp Alpine bubbly

Hubert Clavelin Cremant du Jura Brut-Comte Chardonnay, Jura, France

This is all Chardonnay, just like Blanc de Blanc Champagne, and is full of creamy, savory, apple stuff that would be might fine with seared scallops or a smattering of mountain cheeses and pates.

Donated by Scott and Sarah Wessel

A French underdog with punch

2006 Chateau Les Grands Marechaux, Cotes De Blayes, Bordeaux, France

A blend of 75% Merlot and the rest Cabernet Sauvignon and Cabernet Franc, revealing plenty of glycerin, sweet berry and black currant fruit and hints of loamy soil. The wine is silky textured, lush and ideal for drinking over the next 3-4 years.

Donated by Tracy and Larry Bosche

A noble Pinot Noir

2006 Mount Eden Estate Pinot Noir, Santa Cruz Mountains, California

Mount Eden represents the longest Pinot Noir tradition in California, with original plantings back to 1942. This particular Pinot is sublime and complex with a satiny texture and beautiful rosy cherry fruit. Enjoy.

Donated by Dagmar and Gil Serota

And for Dessert...

The quintessential German Riesling 1997 Franz Karl Schmitt Niersteiner Pettenthal Riesling Auslese, Rheinhessen, Germany

A charming aged Auslese Riesling that smells like the exotic fruit section of the Berkeley Bowl-custard apple, pineapple, guava-an explosion!

Donated by Reven and Benjamin Sues

Grab that chocolate!

Roseblum Cellars, Desiree Chocolate Desert Wine

All curves and decadence, Desiree Chocolate Dessert Wine is an exotic blend of Zinfandel, along with two of Portugal's classic grape varieties and an infusion of rich, opulent chocolate. An experience unto itself in the world of wine.

Donated by Regina Hawkins

Jerome Aubin, the winemaker, lives in Montclair and is known for his pinots. The third is Bartalotti, 2005 Cabernet Sauvignon, Rutherford, Napa Valley. Winemaker Gino Bartalotti, lives by Lake Merritt. He and his brother Chris come from a family tradition of Italian winemakers. Go Oakland! Donated by: Tracy Borst and Robert Menicucci
601	Trio from Hanzell Winery.....Value $235.00 2003 Pinot Noir, 2004 Pinot Noir, 2005 Chardonnay The chardonnay is from the original Hanzell Vineyards Chardonnay vines, planted in 1953 by Ambassador Zellerbach. These are now the oldest Chardonnay vines in California. Four barrels were blended to create this first-ever bottling of this historic single-vineyard bottling. Only 93 estate bottled cases were produced. These are great wines but the story behind the winery makes them even more interesting: In 1948, Ambassador James D. Zellerbach acquired 200 acres in the Mayacamas Mountains one mile north of the Sonoma plaza. The Ambassador's ambition was to create a small vineyard and winery dedicated to the best traditions of Grand Cru Burgundy: Pinot Noir and Chardonnay of extraordinary quality and great longevity. The Zellerbachs planted 6 acres in 1953 (now the oldest Pinot Noir vineyard in America) and created the first vintage in 1957. They named their winery Hanzell, a contraction of Mrs. Hana Zellerbach's name, and embarked on what would become recognized as one of California's most enduring and historically important wine estates. Donated by: Katy and Peter Keim
